

Explore Creative Nonfiction

San Miguel de Allende, Mexico • June 22 to 27, 2008 one-week intensive writing seminar focus on five essential elements of nonfiction prose:

character, first-person narrator, story arc, theme & voice short lectures, writing exercises, group discussions & manuscript review maximum of ten participants individualized attention at Casa Chepitos
www.casachepitos.com

$1,400 workshop fee
($1,200 before April 1, 2008) includes:
twenty hours of writing instruction seven nights' lodging (double accommodation) in a retreat atmosphere with high-speed internet access, daily breakfast & two dinners, in Mexico's most famous colonial town, in the central highlands

Contact Judith Gille jgille7@aol.com for an application & more information.

Instructor Wendy Call is co-editor of the anthology Telling True Stories: A Nonfiction Writers' Guide (Penguin, 2007) and Writer-in-Residence at Seattle's Richard Hugo House, the third-largest literary center in the U.S. Read more at www.wendycall.com